

PRESS RELEASE

Black Fleet Network™ and Sourcewell Form Strategic Partnership to Advance Fleet Education and Access

[Decatur, GA • October 2025] — Black Fleet Network™ (BFN) and Sourcewell have entered a formal partnership, embarking on a powerful collaboration designed to expand access to critical education and industry resources across the fleet management landscape.

Through this collaboration, BFN and Sourcewell will jointly deliver opportunities that foster professional enrichment, business connectivity, and industry advancement- spanning in-person events, webinars, and other shared platforms designed to amplify access to best-in-class fleet management insights.

“Collaborating with Black Fleet Network™ allows us to extend the value of Sourcewell’s cooperative expertise into new spaces of learning and connection,” said Andy Campbell, Director of Cooperative Contracts at Sourcewell. “Together, we’re helping organizations maximize their purchasing power through education that fuels efficiency and resilience.”

Sourcewell and BFN share a commitment to democratized access, equitable education, and business development. Together, they will empower both BFN members and Sourcewell customers- as well as the broader fleet industry- to tap into valuable learning and engagement touchpoints.

According to Exavious Farley, Founder & CEO of Black Fleet Network™, “This partnership is defined by a mutual commitment to equipping fleet professionals with tools and connections that reinforce leadership and drive organizational growth.”

More details, including upcoming joint events and educational opportunities, will be shared through both organizations’ communication channels.
